The study was performed to establish a fingerprint of high concentration xenon T2 gas for monitoring the treatment of xenon T2 toxicity. We investigated the tracings of xenon T2 in rabbits after its intramuscular injection. We found that the tracings of xenon T2 had the following characteristics: the regular tracings of xenon T2 in 5th-7th days, the asymmetry of xenon T2 tracing in 9th day, the approximate tracings of xenon T2 in 10th day. It suggested that the verification of the xenon T2 tracing was possible by a periodical tracing.Abnormal memory deficits in rats with increased expression of mGluR1. We studied the effects of pharmacological manipulation of mGluR1, a metabotropic glutamate receptor subtype, on learning and memory in adult and aged male rats, by immunohistochemical study of the hippocampus. mGluR1 immunoreactivity in the hippocampus was evaluated. In young adult rats, intraperitoneal injection of 2 mg/
